Farmingville, NY - Brookhaven Supervisor Ed Romaine met with over 50 residents of the Blue Ridge condominium complex in Medford Saturday morning, April 6. The meeting was part of a series of community based conversations with residents being held on weekends and evenings, to make Town Hall more accessible to residents outside of normal business hours. The Supervisor provided updates on a number of initiatives he is undertaking, including the largest solar project on Long Island, single-stream recycling and cost saving measures being taken to prevent a tax increase in 2013. Residents spoke to the Supervisor about several issues affecting their community, including needed road repairs, signage, questions about recycling and request for increased police patrols.
